Captain of the Skies

You wake up to find yourself on the deck of an airship. The crew tells you that you are the captain and that you hired them for a secret mission, but you never told them what it was. In your pocket, you have a telescope, a gold ring, and a torn map.

What is your secret mission? What is the ring for, and where does the map lead?

Hidden in the City

You are crouched down in an alley between two buildings. The City's clock tower rings, warning everyone to go home or risk arrest. But you have a secret message to deliver. There is a maze of streets and tunnels between you and where you have to go.

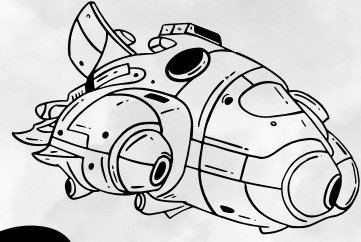

You listen to the heavy footsteps of the metal soldiers that patrol the streets. Once they were good and protected the City's citizens, but now, they have joined the enemy.

Who are you, what is your secret message, and how are you going to get past the metal soldiers?

Treasure in the Sea

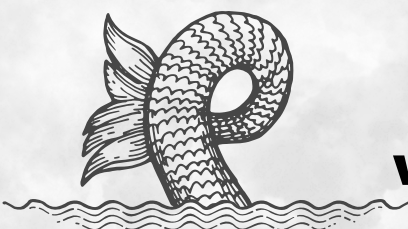

You and your submarine crew are hunting for a lost treasure of gold and jewels in the sea. You were secretly hired by someone to go on the hunt, but you have never met them in person.

You spot a trail of gold coins on the sea floor and pilot your submarine toward them. Suddenly, you notice the floor is wet—one of the submarine walls is cracked and leaking!

At the same time, one of your crew members starts yelling that he sees a sea monster, and you turn just in time to see a large tail swish by.

Who secretly hired you? How will you fix the leak, and WHAT is swimming around your submarine?
